

Cyprus Valorisation Plan February 2013 – May 2014

When	Dissemination Activity	Where	Undertaken by	Target Audience
	The Project's website address was added as a link to the Department of Antiquities' website along with a short text introducing the project	Department of Antiquities web-site	Researcher	The organizations/individuals in Cyprus that have received the questionnaire. Visitors of the Department of Antiquities' website (archaeologists, students of archaeology, the general public).
15-16 March	A poster was designed which included the main results of the Cyprus project 2007 along with photographs, charts and tables, as well as comments on the 2012 project. The poster went on display (along with the posters from all of the project partners) at the conference "Digging in the Crisis" which was held in Rome, and can also be viewed on the 'Discovering the Archaeologists of Europe' website	Rome, National Roman Museum Palazzo Massimo alle Terme	Researcher	The participants of the conference: archaeological community of Italy, students of archaeology, government officials. decision makers (c. 70)
15-16 March	Short presentation of the Cyprus partner	Rome, National Roman Museum Palazzo Massimo alle Terme	researcher	The participants of the conference: archaeological community of Italy, students of archaeology, government officials. decision makers (c. 70)
April-May 2013	Introductory letter sent out to all relevant organizations informing them of the project and the Cypriot partner's role in it.	Cyprus: Nicosia, Larnaca, Limassol and Paphos districts	Researcher	Organisations in Cyprus that employ archaeologists, conservators and support staff, also freelance archaeologists and conservators.

Cyprus Valorisation Plan February 2013 – May 2014

May-October 2013	Telephone communication with all organizations that employ archaeologists in order to achieve personal contact and explain the importance of the project	Cyprus: Nicosia, Larnaca, Limassol, Paphos districts	Researcher	Organizations in Cyprus that employ archaeologists or free lance archaeologists
September 2013	Introductory letter sent out to all relevant foreign missions excavating in Cyprus informing them of the project and the Cypriot partner's role in it.	Foreign missions from all over the world	Researcher	Foreign missions from all over the world that conduct excavations in Cyprus
September-October 2013	Face-to-face contacts and personal interviews	Cyprus: Nicosia,	Researcher	Organizations in Cyprus that employ archaeologists or free lance archaeologists
September 2013	Participation to the Round Table Session for the "Project Discovering the Archaeologists of Europe"	EAA 2013 – Plzen, Czech Republic	Researcher	c. 60-100
15 March 2014	A paper entitled "The changing role of female archaeologists in Cyprus" was delivered at the conference "Women in Archaeology" for the celebration of International Women's Day	York		c. 50-70people